FLIERS REACH JAPAN

First Landing of American Airmen There

By Associated Press.

KASUMIGAURA, Japan, May 22.—Three American army aviators, flying around the world, arrived at the Japanese naval station here fifty miles northwest of Tokio early today after two jumps totaling 650 miles from Yetorofu Island in the Kuriles. They made the first landing American airmen have ever made in Japan.

JAPS FEAR MORE EMIGRATION CURBS

With Fast Increasing Population Yellow Nation Must Have Outlet.

By Associated Press.

OSAKA, Japan, May 22.—Fears that American influence may close to Japanese emigrants the doors of South America, at present offering the most hopeful outlet for Japan's surplus population, are expressed in an editorial appearing in the Osaka Asahi, the newspaper with the largest circulation in Japan. The editorial deals at length with Japan's problems of population, food supply and emigration.

"We cannot be sure that we shall be permitted to send emigrants even to Brazil and Peru without molestation," says the Asahi, after detailing the restrictions imposed on Japanese migration by the United States and the British Empire.

"Japan's population is increasing at the rate of 600,000 a year. If no outlet for this increase can be found, her future is a gloomy one. There are now 36,000 Japanese in Brazil and 18,000 in Peru, and there appears to be room for many more. But the migration to South America in even such limited number is now subject of discussion in a certain foreign country. It appears likely that the influence of the Pan-American creed may be extended to block us in South America."

Funeral of Slain Youth in Appalachia

Funeral services for Arthur Chapman, slain at Loyal Saturday night, were held at the M. E. Church, South, at Appalachia at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. Brigg, pastor, officiating. One of the largest crowds ever attending a funeral there was present and there were approximately 100 automobiles in the funeral procession. Interment followed shortly afterward at a cemetery at Big Stone Gap. Mr. Hickman, employer of the deceased at Loyal, and a few other friends accompanied the body.

The slayer of young Chapman had not been arrested at the last reports. The deceased was a nephew of Mrs. J. H. Biggerstaff of this city.

WOMAN WHO STOLE HUSBAND IS SHOT

Wife of Bob Jones, Formerly Here, Follows Him and Affinity to Montana.

Mrs. R. H. Jones, wife of Bob Jones, formerly of this vicinity, shot and seriously wounded Miss Nannie Spence at Malta, Mont., according to a recent dispatch from there.

It is said that Jones had left his wife and six children in Tennessee and taken a residence in Montana where he remained for ten years. Mrs. Jones, worried by his continued absence, went to Montana where she learned that Miss Spence kept house for him. The shooting is said to have been a sequel to the discovery of her husband's perfidy.

"Old-timers" here were well acquainted with Bob Jones who was engaged in the whiskey business near Cumberland Gap more than two decades ago. He left here shortly after attempts were made to connect him with the killing of two revenue officers and moved to Newport, Tenn. He had various vicissitudes of fortune in Tennessee and the West which are rarely rivaled in fiction.

Portrait of Judge Wm. Sampson Hung In Court of Appeals Room

Presentation of the portrait of the late Judge William Sampson, former Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, to the court at Frankfort Tuesday on behalf of Judge J. R. Sampson of Middlesboro and other children and grand-children of the noted jurist was an event of much interest.

The presentation speech was made by Judge W. L. Porter of Glasgow, who was intimately associated with Judge Sampson in practice. The portrait, the work of Allen Swisher, art director of the University of Kentucky, is a real work of art and a splendid likeness of the former Chief Justice. Judge J. R. Sampson returned yesterday from Frankfort where he attended the exercises.

In his presentation speech, Judge Porter reviewed briefly the life of Judge William Sampson substantially as follows:

He was a member and Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals from 1865 to his death in February, 1866. He was of Scotch ancestry, his father and mother coming from Scotland to Cannonsburg, Pa., during the latter part of the eighteenth century. Judge William Sampson was born there February 21, 1818.

He was educated at the old Jefferson College. In 1840 he taught school in Jefferson county and while attending the old Goshen Presbyterian church in Oldham county he met Miss Virginia Gilpin whom he married a few years later. While a deputy in the Oldham Circuit Court he studied law and after admission to the bar located at Burkesville. From there he removed to Louisville where he was a member of the Gazley, Gorin and Sampson firm. In 1863 he was elected to the Senate of Kentucky, an office he held until appointed Chief Justice.

Judge Sampson left surviving him four children: Margaret and Ida, now dead; Mrs. J. Z. Wheat of San Antonio, Tex., and Hon. John R. Sampson, distinguished lawyer of Middlesboro. The two sons of the latter, William and J. E. Sampson of Harlan bid fair to perpetuate the character and reputation of the Sampson family as lawyers of real ability.

Judge William Sampson's life was without flaw or blemish. A Presbyterian in faith and practice, he was a devoted husband and a kind and loving father.

"I know nothing about the transaction," she is quoted as saying.

ROAD BIDS ARE BEING OPENED

Contracts for Highway Maintenance to Be Let After First of One.

FRANKFORT, May 22.—Opening the bids for maintenance of roads in the state drew a large number of contractors to the state highway department Tuesday.

The work, all of maintenance character, is on various county projects and will be announced today, when the bid opening is completed, Joe S. Boggs, state highway engineer, said.

"No contracts will be let until after July 1," he said. "This is merely preliminary routine to keep the department's outlook connected and progressive."

Names of lowest bidders will not be decided upon for some time, he said.

Two-Headed Baby Born Here Saturday; Is Healthy

One of the most unusual freaks of nature ever seen in this vicinity and one which is rarely rivaled in the realms of medical science is the newly born baby girl of Mr and Mrs. Dock Howerton which has two heads —one natural and the other a rudimentary head growing out of the body. The child is alive, healthy and perfectly normal in other respects.

When born at their home on North Tenth street Saturday morning, the unnatural growth which is similar to a head in size and shape had at the proper places a semblance of eyes, nose and mouth outlined, according to Dr. H. L. Gragg, attending physician. The eyes and nose indications have disappeared though wrinkles where the mouth should be are still in evidence.

The baby is quite good-looking and does not give its mother any more trouble than the average infant. The parents seem to be very fond of the unusual child.

Dr. Gragg declared today that he had never seen such a freak. Works on medical science detail a number of examples of extra limbs and unusual growths on new-born infants though none are identical with the local case. The growth is technically known as Sacrocaceygeal Spina Bifida.

Mrs. Howerton has four other children, all of them perfectly healthy and normal. Mr. Howerton is employed in the mines at Meldrum.

More City Prisoners Get Away Yesterday

Three city jail prisoners escaped from J. D. Haddix, guard, while at work on the streets yesterday afternoon. This makes a total of eight prisoners who have escaped in this manner within the past week.

The men who tired of enforced street work and quit their jobs yesterday were: R. C. Denton, Roy Alfred and D. Reese. The two first named were working out fines for conviction in liquor cases while Reese had been convicted of hoboing.

Grace Nettleton Home Depends On Community Chest Funds

The Grace Nettleton Home at Harrogate is performing a very necessary function in providing dependent girls with homes, boarding, clothing and educating them. It is a beneficiary of the Community Chest this year and it will doubtless be a pleasure for hundreds of Middlesboro people to make donations which will be used in such a commendable cause.

The late Theodore Roosevelt was a regular contributor to the Home, having furnished a number of books to the library and given money for upkeep of the place. Out of the greatness of his heart he contributed to the cause which he knew was worthy. Middlesboro people, however, have a more personal interest in the place as nearly half of the girls in the institution are from this vicinity.

The Home adopts orphan girls or girls from broken homes and raises them to the age of maturity. While there the girls are not only taught sewing, cooking and other branches of home economics but they are also sent to the grade schools of Harrogate and given a thorough elementary education. Those who desire to become educated in the higher branches are given an opportunity to attend college.

Miss Elizabeth Jackson, superintendent, reports that the institution could not have been run last year without the Community Chest allotment. More money is needed this year for necessary repairs to the building though the institution will receive only $2,500 from the Community Chest.

Hear Miss Jackson at the Manring theater to-night.

321 GIVE DAY'S WORK TO ROADS

Mt. Vernon and Berea Citizens Lay 1709 Feet of Rock Despite Rains.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 22.—Mt. Vernon Tuesday closed shop and went to the aid of Berea in the third "Free Day" for workers on the Scaffold Cane section of Dixie highway, Route A, in Rockcastle county, four miles south of Berea.

Business houses in Mt. Vernon were closed by proclamation of the mayor and eighty-seven "white collar" men of that city put on overalls and broke rocks along with 234 others from Berea and Rockcastle county.

Beginning early in the morning the volunteers started breaking stone and at 4 o'clock had laid 1,700 feet of road The rain, which had been threatening all day, held off until that hour, when it began a veritable cloudburst.

With the exception of 100 feet, the seven and a half miles of impassable road had been covered with broken rock and Tuesday for the first time, a steam roller belonging to Madison county, for Rockcastle county has none, made its way over the entire stretch. All the bed rock had been laid and work is now starting on the second and third layers.

An old-fashioned country dinner were served at noon by seventy-one women of the vicinity. The table, of pine boards, was 100 feet long and four feet wide.

EAST END DETOUR GETS FIXED TODAY

To Be In Shape Tonight—Many Cars Were Stuck In Mud Yesterday.

Three teams and an efficient crew of men furnished by the city have been at work on the East End detour today, assuring the public that the street would be in good shape tonight. It was quite passable at noon. The rain of the first of the week had made the detour almost impassable and the city received many complaints from those who were forced to pass that way.

Yesterday and last evening a large number of cars were stuck in the mud, their only chance of getting out being to hire a man with a team who stayed in the vicinity but who asked the surprising sum of five dollars per car to haul the unfortunate owners out. The local Merchants' Association, appealed to in this matter, used their influence to get the city at work on the matter and have promised, if any more cars need to be hauled out, to furnish teamsters who will do it for a dollar a car.

KNIGHT TEMPLAR DIES AT CONCLAVE

Well-Known Mason Falls Dead Just After Finish Address at Winchester Meet.

By Associated Press.

WINCHESTER, May 22.—Frank H. Johnson, 70, of Louisville, nationally known Templar and Scottish Rite Mason, died suddenly today during a session conclave of the Knights Templar of Kentucky. He had just made an address at the meeting and taken his seat when he fell to the floor. His son, Frank, was in the audience at the time.

Gorman Coal Co. Denies Hazard-Elkhorn Sold

LEXINGTON, May 22.—Lexington officials of the John P. Gorman Coal Company have denied that the company had purchased the property of the Hazard-Elkhorn Coal Company in Letcher county. A report of such a sale was circulated through mistake, the officials said. On May 1 the Gorman company took over the mines of the Elk Creek Coal Company near Blackey, in Letcher county, and it is probable that this sale was confused with the one reported, the coal operator said.

Mellon To Recommend Veto Of Tax Bill By President

STANDS BY DAUGHERTY

Assistant Believes He Was True to Trust

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—John W. Grim, special assistant to the attorney-general, told the Daugherty Investigating Committee today that it "would require a great deal of evidence before I will believe that Harry Daugherty ever took a cent of crooked money through Jess Smith," Daugherty's companion and friend. "He had his faults," Grim said, "even as you and I, but I'll have to judge that evidence myself before I'll ever believe he prostituted his office. To me he never faltered."

MUSICK TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

Jackson Attorney Denounces Machine in Plea to Democrats of Ninth.

JACKSON, May 22.—Ryland C. Musick, eastern Kentucky lawyer and a former candidate for attorney general, has made public his announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for congress in the Ninth district.

In his announcement Mr. Musick declares his opposition to "handpicked" candidates and says that the nomination of Governor W. J. Fields' successor was obtained by "force" and under threats that state patronage would be withheld from counties whose committeeman "would not answer to the crack of the whip," striking at the Mt. Sterling committee meeting, which he described as "machine controlled and boss ridden."

If elected he says he will support legislation placing women upon an absolute equality with men; that he will fight a protective tariff and seek to abolish "tax-exempt" securities; that he will favor modification of the income tax laws, support the soldier bonus and aid in reenacting the increased pension bill recently vetoed by President Coolidge; that he will oppose foreign immigration, support labor in its demands for fair play, support national cooperative marketing legislation that will enable the farmer to compete with organized capital and organized industry; that he will support prohibition enforcement legislation and will back the government in any effort to "clean up" Washington and restore the confidence of the people in the government.

FORM DISTRICT ATHLETIC ASS'N

Meeting of Coaches in Pineville Saturday to Facilitate Sports in Section.

The athletic coaches of this section met Saturday in Pineville and formed the Southeastern Kentucky Athletic Association to function with the state, the same eligibility rules to apply to all high school in this section.

This association was formed that the championship in each sport might be determined in this conference, the winners then to play other conferences or go to the state tournament. The association, too, will determine the eligibility of the players, using the same rules as the Kentucky Athletic Association, and will make schedules of games easier and more profitable to all teams. They will have an approved list of officials in each town, also.

Those represented at the meeting were: Coach Numbar of Barbourville High School, Coach Meek of Harlan High, Coach Faulkner of Barbourville Baptist Institute, Coach Funk of Union College Academy, Coach Johnson of Pineville High and Coach Kilpatrick of Middlesboro High. All other high schools in the section have been invited to enter the Association. Officers elected were: President, Coach Johnson of Pineville; vice-president, Coach Kilpatrick of Middlesboro; secretary-treasurer, Coach Faulkner of Barbourville.

Plans are already under way among these schools for a basketball and a track tournament for the district next year.

Regards It As Unfortunate Piece of Legislation.

FORESEES DEFICIT

Secretary Finds No Reason for Increase in Estate Taxes—Opposes Making Income Returns Public.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Strong indications were given at the Treasury today that Secretary Mellon will recommend the veto of the tax bill by the president when the measure is submitted to the Treasury for review. High officials said the bill was very unsatisfactory to Mellon and the statement was made that he viewed it as "a most unfortunate piece of legislation."

Mellon believes all provisions for reform of the tax system should have been omitted and finds no justification for inclusion of such provisions as the increased estate tax. He also believes that making income tax returns to certain Congressional committees and opening to the public proceedings of the Tax Review Board will harm business, injure credit and divulge trade secrets to competitors. Moreover, the Treasury forsees a deficit requiring an entirely new fiscal program.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon believes the adjusted compensation law can be administered without prejudice to a flat reduction of 25 per cent in income taxes payable this year. It became apparent at the treasury department, immediately following enactment of the compensation measure, that Mr. Mellon's opposition to the legislation has in great degree subsided.

It was officially stated for him that, whatever the fate of the revenue bill when it comes to the President he has no fear the income tax reduction clauses will be abandoned in Congress.

Neither does Mr. Mellon apprehend any depression in American business because of the granting of adjusted compensation. The main issue with business, he holds, is not compensation, but a decrease in taxes.

This news comes as a great reassurance to commerce and industry from a treasury head who has been represented as pessimistic in regard to the effect of compensation legislation.

Mr. Mellon's thoughts on the situation were summarized by a spokesman along the lines as follows:

1—Immediate cash requirements of the law are very much less than under other so-called bonus measures proposed.

2—There is little or no chance of modification in the revenue bill as sent to conference unless it could be gotten back on the floor of the house.

3—In regard to tax reduction in other schedules than those applying to individual incomes, while there is a "serious doubt," of its possibility, Mr. Mellon does not care at this time to attempt to prophesy.

4—If the revenue bill is written into law as it comes from conference and there is a deficit in the next fiscal year, it can be met by issuance of short term certificates of indebtedness or special tax legislation by the sixty-ninth congress.

Secretary Mellon made known in conjunction with this presentation of his views that the treasury's surplus has been steadily increased.

INDIANA G. O. P. SETTLE TROUBLES

Anti-Klan Plank Rejected and Senator Watson Endorsed for Vice-President.

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 22.—The way was made smooth by conferences which reached far into the morning for Indiana Republicans to begin the final session of their state convention here today. The platform prepared after a long conference instructs delegates to the national convention to vote for Senator Watson for vice-president, rejecting the plank against the Ku Klux Klan. The resolutions committee incorporated a plank for just enforcement of all laws "without prejudice to race, creed or color."

NATIONAL PARKS FOR THIS SECTION

The Lexington Herald, in a recent editorial describing a new national park just created, deplores the fact that Kentucky, with Mammoth Cave and other wonder spots, has no national park. We heartily endorse this thought, particularly in application to the wonderful Cumberland Gap site, noted for its beauty and historic interest, a place more suited for a national park than any other in the Appalachians. The Herald editorial follows:

"Along the Lincoln Highway in Idaho there is a section almost unknown at present. It is a wild, colorful region containing one of the most unusual volcanic fields in America. Described by R. W. Limbert in a recent communication of the National Geographic Society, 'from the twisted brilliant contours of frozen lava fields and crimson cones and the absence of verdue, it takes its official name, 'Craters of the Moon.'

'On May 2, President Coolidge signed the order creating this section as the country's youngest national park.

"Although almost totally unknown at present, this section is destined some day to attract tourists from all America, for its lava flows are as interesting as those of Vesuvius, Mauna Loa or Kilauea.

"The district consists of some 63 volcanic craters, lava and cinder cones, all at present extinct or dormant. The largest and most conspicuous is 600 feet high, rising in the midst of a belt of craters two or three miles wide and 30 miles long.

"The major flows, the Blue Dragon flow, and the Pahoehoe flow, roughly parallel the Lincoln Highway and are but two to five miles from it. A wagon trail from the national road goes into the rocky volcanic desert a short way.

"What this new national park will mean to Iowa remains to be seen. Kentucky, with Mammoth Cave, one of the greatest of all the natural wonders of the world and one already known far and wide, and with the cliffs of the Kentucky river which are second to none in scenic splendor, with its great mountain woodlands towering as a fortress between the northern and southern states, has no national park. This state should have at least one national park and a number of state parks."

MUST PEOPLE BE MADE LIABLE FOR FIRES?

During the past ten years, the fire waste of the United States has more than doubled until we are now annually burning up values amounting to approximately $506,510,000, which represents the annihilation of material wealth at the rate of $963 a minute. This destruction, furthermore, is accompanied by injury and serious loss of life so that the country's human resources are also depleted by fire. These facts are striking enough in themselves but what particularly impresses those who have studied the reasons for our tremendous national ash-heap is the fact that it is largely the outgrowth of carelessness and is, therefore, preventable. Since most fires are due to the carelessness of the individual—the American habit of "taking a chance," with all of its faults and virtues—it is to the individual that we must look for betterment of the situation.

It is true that the value of property has been largely enhanced during the period of the growing fire losses, but, in terms of percentages, the incineration of buildings and commodities has increased to a greater extent than the population. The remedy lies, therefore, in causing the public to be more careful—in making it realize more fully how the nation and the individual are harmed by the continued ravages of fire.

This process of education is under way in the schools of the country and means much for the future, but what of the adult population whose habits are largely fixed? They are less susceptible to education than the younger generation, but economists say that the adults must, nevertheless, change their ways. Since moral persuasion appears to lack the required "punch" perhaps we must fall back upon the law and enact statutes that will make each person liable for the damage due to the fire he causes. This is the custom of the continental countries of Europe where one is held responsible also for the spread of fire to his neighbors' property. As a result, European fire losses are infinitesimal as compared with ours. Of course, structural conditions abroad are less favorable to burning, but the matter of personal liability looms large as a preventive of fire. Must we too follow, as a nation ,the example of the Old World, as several American cities have already done, and attack the disease from the same standpoint before we can effect a cure?

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE TWINS VISIT MR. GULLIVER

"I soon discovered that I was tied down"

We have seen so many people in Once-Upon-a-Time Land that there are not many left to visit," said Mister Muggs as he stopped his magic automobile beside the place where the Twins were playing.

"Where are we going today?" cried Nick as he and Nancy climbed in, and the fairyman shut the door and started the thingamajig.

"How would you like to go and call on Mister Gulliver?" asked Mister Muggs. "Like Alice in Wonderland, and Sinbad, he is a good story teller and tells you all sorts of interesting things that happened to him."

"Hooray! That will be fine!" cried Nick. "Let's hurry."

So away they whizzed over the Fairyland Road till they came to Once-Upon-a-Time Land, and at last reached the house of L. Gulliver, Esq.

"I rather thought you'd be along to see me," said Mister Gulliver kindly after he had shaken hands all around and told one of his men to look after the car. "You have been to see so many of my neighbors. Come and sit down and I'll give you a drink of fruit juice that I learned to make from the Lilliputians."

"Who are they?" asked Nancy.

"They are the people upon whose shores I landed the first time I was shipwrecked," said Mister Gulliver. "I'll tell you about them.

"When I swam to shore in this strange land, I was tired out, so I lay down on the grass to sleep.

"How long I slept I can't say but when I awoke I couldn't move. I thought at first that it was just stiffness from being in the water, but I soon discovered that I was tied down to tiny stakes by thousands of little cords.

"Next, little creatures began to crawl all over me and I soon saw that they were people but they were only six inches high.

"Whenever I moved they shot arrows at me no bigger than pins, but when I was quiet they were kind and let me alone.

"After while they cut the cords that held my head and brought me food. A hundred tiny people with hundred tiny baskets fed me. I ate three legs of lamb (no bigger than peas) at one mouthful, and three of their tiny hams I swallowed without as much as chewing. They thought I never would get filled, I know.

"Everything that I did seemed to astonish them.

"Then they gave me something to drink which put me to sleep.

"While I was asleep, fifteen hundred of their horses carried me to the king's palace.

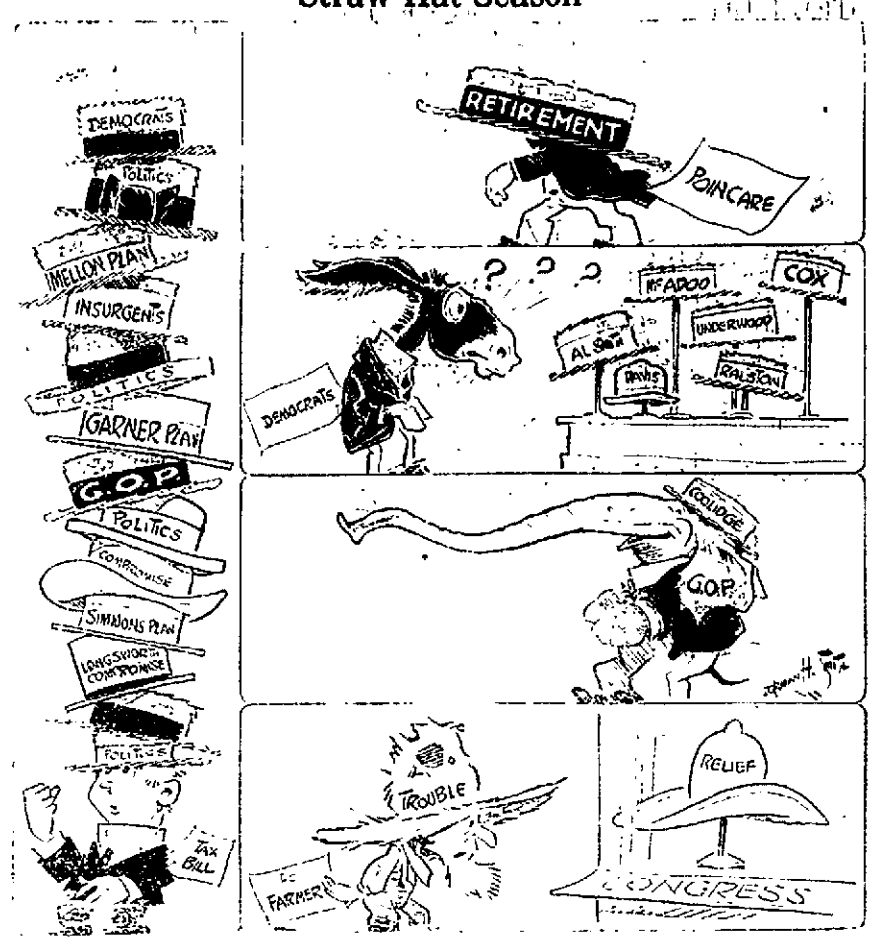

"The king ordered nine hundred towns to feed me three hundred tailors to make me a suit of clothes, and it took six hundred of their beds to make a bed for me.

"One day they had a parade of a hundred thousand men and ten thousand horses. I stood up and my legs made a great archway under which they passed."

"Is that all?" asked Nick.

"Not quite," said Mister Gulliver. "They went to war with their enemies, the Blefuscans, over the right way to open an egg. I went out into the ocean and picked up all the enemy ships for them, so they won. After that the king and I had a quarrel and I had to leave the land of the Lilliputians."

Edwards Heirs Will Meet in Louisville

The Robert Edwards heirs will meet in Louisville, Kentucky, on Thursday, May 29, at one o'clock p. m., in the Assembly Room of the Free Public Library, just south of Broadway.

Edwards leased his real estate, on which the lower part of Broadway, New York, and adjacent streets are located, for ninety-nine years. This lease expired some years since, but the heirs have so far been unsuccessful in their efforts to recover the land. Interest in this claim has been recently revived by the discovery of important papers, which, it is believed, will enable the heirs to substantiate the claim and push it to a successful issue.

The above information was furnished by Mrs. E. C. Tooke of Shepherdsville. J. W. Carter, of Middlesboro, is a relative of the Edwards family and will doubtless come in for a share of the estate in the event the heirs are awarded the reversionary interest they claim.

Quill pens are still made from the long wing feathers of geese.

THE OPEN FORUM

Cow-bells Disturb

Editor Daily News:—The Binghamtown people claim that they are disturbed from their peaceful slumbers of night by the constant ringing of the cow-bell. Stock is being permitted to roam about, mostly at night, doing damage to people's gardens and keeping them awake at night. Officers may find loose stock almost any evening they come.

These people here say they like to hear church bells, school bells, ice wagon bells, delivery wagon bells, The Lady Belle, and the Bells of Heaven but not the constant jingle of the cow bell.

INSURGENTS ALWAYS HAVE BEEN HATED

Halfbreeds, Mugwumps Name Once Given Them.

DEMOCRATS, TOO

Both Parties Have Long Had Internal Trouble — LaFollette Now Is Giving Most Bother.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Nearly 60 years ago, insurgents bothered the Republican regulars a lot.

The regulars called themselves Stalwarts" to avoid mistakes.

"Halfbreeds" were what they said the insurgents were.

The Halfbreeds favored civil service reform and other heterodoxies. Worst of all they questioned the "machine's" divine origin.

Finally they won out, in 1880, with Garfield, their presidential choice, against the Stalwart leader, Grant.

Then came the Mugwumps, the Republican bolters of 1884.

According to as high an authority as Webster's unabriged dictionary the Mugwumps considered themselves "superior to their party in character and intelligence," just like the Progressives now.

In due season they got in their deadly work, too—they, or somebody, beat James G. Blaine.

More "Revolts"

Real Republican sympathy was felt for Senator Henry M. Teller of Colorado when, as a silverite, he had to bolt the national convention of 1896. "I love protection," Teller mourned, crying real tears, as he and Senator George Q Cannon of Utah walked out.

"T. R's" revolt in 1912 is modern history. The Bull Moose is hardly extinct yet. There are Stand Patters who still stand pat.

Yet the regulars never hated any insurgents of the past as they hate the Progressives of today.

Why?

Well, the old-timers bolted. They did at least that much in the interests of regularity. They gave the regulars a chance to read 'em out of the party and get 'em off their hands.

The Progressives have just stuck along with the "organization" and "bored from within."

It's Maddening

To have a senator like La Follette against him on every imaginable issue and yet to have to recognize him as technically on his side is enough to make such a statesman as Henry Cabot Lodge froth at the mouth.

And it's been going on for years and years and years.

Doubtless the reason the Republicans have had more insurgency than the Democrats is that the former have held office much more of the time than the latter have.

It's easier to unite political groups for the purpose of breaking in than it is, when they are in, to keep them from quarreling over the pie.

In fact the Democrats have quarreled when they were the "ins."

They were badly split at the end of Cleveland's scond term; also at the end of Wilson's. And of course, even as "outs," they were split in 1896, but that, on both sides, was a most unusual year.

NEVER BE WITHOUT IT for it immediately eases sudden, severe, colicky pains and cramps in stomach and bowels, deadly nausea and weakening diarrhoea. For children and grown-up use

REVIVAL HAVING STRONG EFFECT

Many Ask Prayers Following the Methodist Evangelist's Sermons.

An old-fashioned revival resulted at the M. E. Church, South, last night when a number of persons crowded to the altar following the splendid sermon of the Rev. M. T. Chandler and song service. Several other persons, old and young, signified a desire for prayer of the Christians.

The Rev. Chandler's sermon was a splendid description of death and the final judgment. All the Scriptures pertaining to subject were used and clear-cut explanations made. Songs by the Grayson Trio were in keeping with the sermon subject.

The church auditorium was filled last night, despite the fact that there were prayer services at all the other city churches. The meetings at 2:30 o'clock each afternoon are also being well attended.

HUNT'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Proclamation of Emancipation was written in Washington.

The Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, establishing the civil and legal equality of white and blacks, was enacted in Washington.

Washington, as the nation's capital, should, one would think, be the city above all others where the equal status of all citizens would be upheld and where racial and group prejudices would be minimized. But—and this is but a typical instance—

When it became known that the political Campaign School of the League of Republican clubs of the District of Columbia, which was slated to meet in one of the fashionable downtown hotels, would be attended by blacks as well as whites, notice was served by the management that all colored visitors would be required to use the 'service elevator."

A quick shift in arrangements was made and the sessions held at another hotel where the color ban was not in effect.

Pigs are not just pigs to Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas. Neither are they simply embryo hams and bacon. To Capper, pigs signify above all else, opportunity.

That's why Capper is prouder of being the father of the Capper Pig clubs than he is of having been governor of his state or of his present seat in the United States senate.

Years ago Capper found in his mail one morning an appeal from a boy who wanted to buy a pig. His plea for a pig was so genuinely that of an ambitious youngster who wanted the porker as a toehold on the ladder of advancement, that Capper decided to take a chance.

He wrote the youngster a letter of commendation and encouragement, enclosing a check for enough money to buy a pig, but stipulating that the money was a loan, not a gift, and should be repaid out of the profits after a herd had been developed.

This first pig thrived, produced in kind and the boy, prospering, paid the loan. Capper felt the glow of having accomplished a real service. The Capper Pig Clubs were the result.

In these clubs Capper goes into partnership with each member, advancing enough cash to enable the boys to start their herds, always stipulating that they buy pure-bred stock.

To date he has advanced considerably more than $100,000 to his boy partners, without any security other than the boy's honor. But he has never lost a dollar so advanced.

With the pig clubs for boys established, the idea was broadened to include poultry clubs for girls. And these have been equally successful.

Childless himself, Capper has his greatest pleasure in hearing of the success of these boys and girls whom he has assisted to a start in life. The benefits have not been economic alone, he feels. More than the financial aid this assistance has given the youth of his state, he believes, is the growth in character and initiative that has been developed through these clubs. He feels he is helping Kansas produce not only better pigs and poultry but better men and women.

Teddy Roosevelt, son of the former president and assistant secretary of the navy, has been drafted by the College Bureau of the Republican Nation Committee to plead the cause of Republicanism with the first voters of graduating this year from colleges and universities. Roosevelt makes his first appeal as a class plea, as follows:

"There are two classes the world over—the governing and the governed. If you want to be of the governing class, join the college Republican clubs and back the Republican party."

Shower Yesterday For Miss Myra Johnson

Mrs. R. P. Caton was hostess yesterday at her home in Pineville at a beautiful shower in honor of Miss Myra Johnson whose wedding to Neal Bennett of Middlesboro will take place in early June. Mrs. Caton entertained her guests in two sections, half in the morning and half in the afternoon. Elaborate decorations in the house carried out a color scheme of pink and white. Baskets and vases of pink and white peonies and pink roses were used. A special feature was the table on which stood a miniature bride dressed in all white with the conventional veil and orange blossoms. Crystal candlesticks holding pink candles stood on each corner of the table and above it hung a beautiful wedding bell made of white rose petals with a pink clapper. Miss Johnson, her mother, Mrs. Rice Johnson, Mrs. Caton, Mrs. Caton, Sr. Misses Edith and Grace Johnson were in the receiving line. The bride-to-be was particulary charming in a green ribbon dress with hat to match.

When the guest were assembled Miss Johnson came into the room to the strains of the wedding march carrying a large bouquet of various kinds of kitchen utensils. When she was seated the shower gifts, all lovely articles, were brought to her in a pink and white wagon drawn by little Miss Frances Moss. Those who attended the shower from here were Mrs. F. P. Scales, Mrs. Felix Sampson, Mrs. E. S. Helburn, Mrs. W. K. Evans and Miss Lina Rennebaum.

Here are six reasons why Orange-Crush is so utterly delicious:
(1) The natural fruit oil of oranges—for that delicate and delightful flavor; (2) The natural acid of citrus fruits (oranges, lemons and limes)—to give the tang; (3) Orange juice—which everybody likes; (4) Carbonated water—for "zip," sparkle, purity; (5) U. MELLON RECOMMEND VETO OF TAX BILL

Several months ago it was reckoned at $329,000,000. It is expected to reach the impressive figures of $100,000,000 by the beginning of the fiscal year 1926.

The chief concern of the treasury head is one that lies more than twenty years in the future. It is the flotation, which then will become necessary of some $3,000,000,000 worth of government bonds, the proceeds from which will be used to meet the paid-up endowment insurance policies to be granted ex-service men and women.

What is termed the "final burden" thus will be laid upon the nation at one time. Other officials than the secretary pointed out, however, that nearly $25,000,000,000 in Liberty and Victory bonds had been absorbed by the nation during the world war. This immense debt is steadily being decreased by buying in of parts of the issues. The vastly wealthy America that will exist two decades hence, it is confidently asserted, will absorb so relatively small a total of $3,000,000,000 without depression. There may be some dificulty of flotation, it is thought, but it will be comparatively trival.

Feature Film Classic Will Be Shown Here

After months of reading of the greatness of Universal's "Hunchback of Notre Dame," Middlesboro will have a chance to see this classic, as it is booked for showing at the Manring Theatre, starting on June 2nd. The engagement will be limited to two days. Lon Chaney is the star and his interpretation of the role of "Quarimodo" is said to be the greatest piece of work that he has ever accomplished.

The cast is one of the finest ever gathered together and includes such well-known artists as Ernest Torrence, Patsy Ruth Miller, Nigel de Brulier, Brandon Hurst, Kate Lester, Gladys Brockwell, Eulalie Jensen, Tully Marshall and John Cossar.

The entire production was made at Universal City, California, and is the crowning achievement in a long list of superlatively fine film productions made by Carl Laemmle.
